resolution he may have taken of resigning his post as Councillor. We have heard this spoken of more than once as likely to take place under certain contingencies, but we can conceive of no circumstances at present existing that would justify such a step. It is quite true that the City Council have not been fairly treated by the Government. But when they accepted their position as municipal officers they must have known that it was in the power of the general Government to alter or change the Act of Incorporation as they might see fit. It was for the Corpo ration to oppose any changes which they might think inimical to the interests of the City. Having done what they considered their duty, that was sufficient. If the Gov. ernment did wrong, as we have no doubt they did, they have to answer for it to the public on the hustings. It is not for the Council to refuse to act under the change of circumstances. They ought to take things ns they find them, and do the best they can It is far more honorable to remain at one's post in all weathers than to desert it when things prove disagreeable. The worst part of the labor of the City Council may be said to be over. They have had more than ordinary difficulties on account of being the pioneers, but we think that henceforth their course will be like that of any other Town Council, smooth enough on the whole with an occasional excitement to make it interesting. We trust then that none of the present Council will show the white feather, but that all will complete the term of their office and do all the good they can. They have now got into the way of working, and have an amount of experience and acquaintance with City affairs that it would take a new member some time to acquire.

CAN THE ALPACA BE INTRODUCED INTO THESE COLONIES? As a large portion of these Colonies is evidently more suited for grazing than agricultural purposes, the question will frequently arise what kind of stock it is capable of accommodating, and what kind would be likely to prove a source of profit? Of course the ordinary domestic animals we have been accustomed to at home immediately suggest themselves. Horned cattle, horses and sheep generally comprise our range of choice. Australia, however, has been endeavoring to extend the number of kinds of stock available for the production of textile fabrics, and with every prospect of success. For this purpose alpacas have been introduced from Peru. This animal with its allied species the llama and vicana are found amongst the most elevated portions of the Peruvian republic even where the climate is most inclement, boisterous and variable. Their power of endurance of cold, heat, damp, hunger and thirst is very great. They appear hardier in fact than the sheep. The llama is often used as a beast of burden and is capable of carrying from 100 to 200 pounds. But it is as a woolbearing animal that its value chiefly consists in. In this respect these animals are invaluable-the wool now commands between three and four shillings per pound in the English market, and the demand for it is constantly increasing as it possesses qualities The importation into Great Britain of this not found in sheep's wool. material according to the London Quarterly Review in an article touching the subject, has risen from 5,700 lbs. in 1834, to 2,501, 634 lbs. in 1859. Now it would be worth while for us to try and effect the introduction of so valuable an animal into these colo nies. They would no doubt succeed admirably wherever sheep can live and even where they cannot. They will feed with sheep and protect them from other animals. In New South Wales where a flock was introduced in the latter end of the year 1858, they have succeeded better than in their native country, producing a heavier and finer fleece. It would be well we think if the experiment were tried here also. The table lands of British Columbia and the hills of this Island with the state of the state o might thus be made to yield a very large revenue to the country for all future generations,

REGINA VS. WILLIAMSON.

Robert Williamson, the colored man who was arrested at Port Townsend, and surrendered under the Extradition Treaty, was brought up on the charge of having killed Stephen Anderson on the Saanich Road.

Mr. Ring, instructed by Mr. Dennos, appeared on behalf of the prisoner.

Williamson, on being led into the dock, walked with a light, jaunty step, and on entering took a survey of the court and the people assembled, putting on an air of suppreme indifference. Here and there midst the crowd he recognised an acquaintance on whom he would bestow a familiar smile.

Fortune Richards was the first witness

Fortune Richards was the first witness called for the Orown. The substance of this man's evidence was the same as given before the Coroner at the Inquest. After relating the circumstances within his knowledge, the magistrate asked him it he knew anything else with regard to the enquiry he might state admissible or not.
Witness—"Well, I know that Williamson was a man not to be trusted."

Mr. Ring... Oh, come! that won't do.

Witness..." I must say all I know; it is necessary for the ends of justice."

Mr. Ring.... Yes, but please to confine yourself to what you do know, Mr. Richard...

Dr. Black-Was the next witness called,

We cannot undertake to answer our correspondent's enquiry, as to whether his dog must necessarily pay the tax, or be impaled, in the event of his taking it into his dog-matical acts of our City Fathers, we should probably embark upon a sea of troubles from which shrpwreck would be the only escape. We would simply suggest that if "Curtailed's" dag is "collared" by him, we do not well see how he can undergo the same processes the bands of the City because process at the hands of the City Inspector. He will find the matter fully discussed in a the "Original Pieman."

MAY DAY .- Many of our fellow townsm are looking forward to a grand "day out to-morrow. The Fire Department are making every preparation for their parade, in which the Mayor and Town Council have consented to take part. The effect of the procession will be considerably enhanced by the attendance of the fine brass band, belonging to H. M. S. Topaze, lent for the purpose by the kind permission of Commodore Spencer R. The Banks of British North America and British Columbia have announced that those establishments will be closed for the day —and we presume others will not be slow to follow their example, in order that all may enter into the enjoyments of the occasion order of procession will not be definitely arranged until this morning.

FROM NEW WESTMINSTER .-- The steamer Otter arrived last night from New Westminster, bringing 34 passengers, $15,000 in gold, per Deitz & Nelson's Express, and about $25,000 in private hands. CITY Taxes .- We learn that the publicans and others, are coming forward with commendable alacrity to pay the city taxes under the Trades License Act. Yesterday about $500 was paid into the City Treasury, and numerous returns sent in. I found Shake's house to be by far he best furnished in this place though it does not look so from the outside; in fact it is remarkably well finished oil inside, being well floored and having small rooms like ship's cabins round the whole house. I saw a good bedatead, sofa, etc. When I pushed my way through the crowd I was duly installed in an arm chair. By the way most of the houses here have an arm chair of some sort, all of home manufacture. The dancing did not commence for some time, the crowd in the town of the companience of some time, the crowd of being all there. At last the ball opened.—Shakes, being the host, was the only one that danced. but he being an adapt in the Siwash branch of the Terpsichorean art, entertained us for over an hour—giving as during that time, a great many different dances; in one of them he put on what appeared to be a white hat, but it was only a basket affair, covered with a white down. If one of them had struck him it would have stopt his holloaing for the time-being. He was all the time talking to Shakes loud enough to be heard for miles around. This finished the dancing, and I was glad of it for I was tired before it was hall through. They then commenced serving out riee and molasses. Everybody had previously sent some sort of pan or box to the house by the man that went round to invite them. There were three persons from our house, including myself. The way they knew all the different dishes amongst so many was true. cluding myself. The way they knew ell the interiorious fact that, within the knowledge different dishes amongst so many was truly of the President, personal jealousies disturbed wonderful. The elattering of tin pans and bumping of wooden boxes did not last a minute, when everybody had their own. The surprise that his disposition to disregard adarrangements for waiting on the dense throng were complete, every one was served quietly and orderly—each one passing his dish up to rendered the practice habitual. This has the front, where it was filled and passed back the front, where it was filled and passed back to him, and as they had furnished themselves with spoons beforehand, they fell to as soon as their dishes were handed to them.

That thieving doctor I mentioned in the first part of this letter sat on my felt. He had an enormous wooden box, still he managed to empty it nearly twice. I am such he was nearly fit to burst, notwithstarding the india rubber in his composition. After every one had gorged himself, the dishes were filled tp again for the parties to take home with them. There was a sort of hull in the proceedings at this stage of the game; but it he President has been mainly exercised, not in the daring execution of bold and vigorous need on the molasses; it was sent in spoon-shaped ladles, and was well last, the Comet put into the harbor of Garliestown, and took the ground on a sandbank at a short distance from the quay. Next day, as the tide was flowing, five men were engages. as the tide was nowing, nee men were enga-ged in docking the vessel, when a porson standing on the quay observed that she was about to keel over. He forthwith gave an alarm, and four out of the five succeeded in keeping clear; the fifth, a man named Nilserved out, everybody got a cake of it and some two or three.

That about finished the affair. The men who had presided at the head of the house commenced a lively song, rapping their ladles to the tune. They certainly looked pleased and happy, and withall very important. Their big, fat faces streamed with the course of an hour if the weight of the vessel cause of an hour if the weight of the vessel cause of an hour if the weight of the vessel cause of an hour if the weight of the vessel cause of an hour if the weight of the vessel cause of an hour if the weight of the vessel cause of an hour if the weight of the vessel cause of the cause of an hour if the weight of the vessel cause of the cause of ant. Their big, fat faces streamed with the perspiration, which was making little red and black rivers down their breasts from the quantity of paint they had daubed themselves with. When the song was through the assemblage broke up. These large pollatches are no unusual thing, in fact they very olten have two or three a week. prisoner, it was evident that his fate was retain the lion's share of both.

He had not been gone over ten minutes, when a fearful noise begon. The men rushing their musket, and strapping on their eartridge-boxes, were off again in an instant. Presently, off goes onsmusket. A very few moments elapsed, when bang, goes another, that was followed by about hall a dozen more. Then commenced a regular fusilade. CENTLEMEN,—YOU WILL SHORTLY BE called upon to exercise the most sacred rights of Britons, in selecting men of your own free will to manage your own local affairs, scrutinize and correct the course of Government, and adjust and impose taxation. While I feel that I have no especial claims to public support, I declaim, in common with my fellow citizens, that I have embarked my capital, brought my family, and expended some portion of my past energies here, and that in a new country like this I have a right to aspire to a position in the mangement of its public affairs. I do not seek any office of emolument—I have never done so, nor is such my aim now. I am content to earn my living independent of Crown patronage; but the honor of representing my fellow citizens is a distinction which any man might be proud of, and I aspire to that. I hold the equal rights of all men to be of the first importance in all cases of legislation, and know no distinction of creed, color, or country. Heaven hes given us a fine climate, a good harbor, a natural position as the entrepot to a great part of Washington Territory and British Columbia; and in the present condition of American affairs so situated that with a Frage Pour and Modrator of any amount, we can supply a great share of the Pacific coast cheaper than they can possibly be supplied from elsewhere.

I am fully alive to the advantages we possess and its my anxious desire to forward our interests, particularly railroad and harbor enterprises; to watch and guard against corruption and misgovernment; to see that equal rights and cheap administration are preserved; that law costs and lawyers are looked after, without permitting to them exclusive privileges or business monopolies; that the merchant, tradesman, mechanic and artizan is protected and supported; land granted free, at nominal rates to actual settlers, with a view to encourage that important interest; speculators and land jobbers checked and frustrated, and that the all-pervading rule of Government officials, dabloring in mines, town sites and public lands, may be abolished.
